Profile

As an associate at Bond, Connor applies his legal knowledge and skills to assist clients in various practice areas including business and transactions, labor and employment, higher education, litigation and college sports.

Prior to joining Bond, Connor coached Division III football at the University of Rochester for five years where he held multiple leadership roles within the program and athletics department. In addition, Connor also has experience working as a law clerk at New Era Cap Co., Inc. where he researched trademark databases to assess risk concerning intellectual property infringement. In addition, he drafted legal memoranda detailing each potential risk associated with the use of proposed trademarks on products.

Connor was also a law clerk at a small law firm where he assisted with litigation preparation by drafting discovery requests and legal memorandums. Connor's wide-ranging experience makes him an effective advocate for clients involved in various matters.
