Profile

Mark represents both plaintiffs and defendants in a wide range of complex business disputes as well as in real estate, employment and in technology, higher education and e-discovery conflicts. Mark is a seasoned appellate attorney. He has been a court-appointed discovery master in a significant business litigation. His extensive experience allows him to assess his clients' matters, develop sound solutions and position his clients for successful outcomes.

Mark's practice largely focuses on business, real estate and complex title litigations. He represents public and private companies, partnerships, law firms, universities, lenders, title insurance companies, investment advisors, non-profit organizations, real estate developers, commercial property owners and tenants, condominiums, cooperatives and their sponsors, as well as individuals, in disputes related to breach of contract, fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, forgery, insurance, construction, licensing and trespassing. He also resolves conflicts between shareholders, boards and managing agents.

Mark's litigation includes:

- Disputes between current and former business partners in numerous types of complex business disputes;
- Technology and E-discovery controversies;
- Bank and insurance fraud;
- Phishing and hacking disputes;
- Disputes concerning the construction and the demolition of buildings as well as in leasing, air rights, trespass, easement and licensing controversies;
- Insurance declaratory judgment actions;
- Employment disputes for both management, including enforcement of non-competition provisions;
- Matters for condominiums and cooperatives and also for sponsors and investors, as well as for unit owners, relating to construction, property damage, shareholder, board and managing agent disputes;
- Indemnification and contribution claims; and
- Complex title insurance disputes.
