

Essential Resources for Business

Overview

Everyday Bond marshals its resources in support of employers by assessing the shifting business landscape, identifying potential legal hazards, charting sound approaches and sharing insights with our clients. We bring a multidisciplinary approach, employing strategies from across the firm and provide practical solutions and the resources that help our clients grow and maintain a positive workforce.

Bond's Essential Resources for Business is a coalition of attorneys from multiple practices within the firm (e.g., labor and employment, business, business restructuring, real estate, tax, government relations, litigation, etc.) providing up-to-the-minute response to rapidly evolving regulations and economic conditions. Collaboratively, we divide and conquer the issues, big and small, that entities face today.

As essential resources for business, Bond:

- explains the laws and latest guidance;
- focuses on risk and crisis mitigation plans;
- reviews and analyzes contracts to assess both potential liability and recovery related to nonperformance, force majeure clauses and termination;
- unpacks and simplifies the tax law amendments designed to ease tax compliance burdens and expand applicable tax benefits;
- assists with implementation of OSHA guidelines, new and old, to promote workplace safety; and
- advises on all aspects of employment law compliance.
